

A Day on the Maya
10-4 pm, Saturday 29 November
Room 612, Institute of Archaeology, University College London

- 10:00 Welcome and Registration
- 10.20 Professor Norman Hammond (Professor Emeritus of Archaeology, Boston University)
Economy, Society and Culture in the Maya Middle Preclassic at Cuello, Belize.
- 10.55 Dr Patrice Bonnafox (Honorary Research Associate, Institute of Archaeology, UCL)
The beer mug and the Tajine dish: Semiotics of Classic Maya Serving Vessels.
- 11.30 Tea/Coffee Break
- 11.50 Richard P. Adam (City Literary Institute)
Not just conquest. Reviewing the significance of Maya hieroglyphic monuments
- 12.25 Suzanne Nolan (University of Essex)
The 'three-conquest' story aspects of the Maize God at Yaxchilán
- 1.00 Lunch
- 2.00 Dr Diane Davies (Ancient Maya Specialist and Consultant)
Making the invisible visible: the use of chemical analysis in revealing past activities at San Bartolo
- 2.35 Dr Manuel May Castillo (Leiden University, Holland)
Revisiting the E-Group at Uaxactun. A new appraisal from a Maya perspective
- 3.15 Dr Ines Varela-Silva - Dr Ines Varela-Silva (Loughborough University)
The Maya Project: Integrating research perspectives and community participation for social enterprise
- 3.50 Closing Remarks

